Mango, Pepper, Lemon and Cannabis

MANGO Increases Highness

While THC, CBD, and other cannabinoids generate the main effects, terpenes may cause the high to follow a certain direction. Some evidence suggests Cannabinoids and terpenes even work together synergistically, a phenomenon known as the "Entourage effect".

Mango contains a substance called myrcene, which is also found in weed and can increase the ability of THC to cross the blood-brain barrier.

This would result in a higher concentration of THC in the brain, which would translate into a stronger high

PEPPER & LEMON

Reduce Anxiety

According to one study: "Humans may have been using a peppery brew to combat the effects of cannabis as early as the first century."

Many people report significant results when using pepper or lemon to mitigate the anxiety inducing effects of cannabis. It's believed they contain chemicals that work similarly to cbd at minimizing negative effects associated with THC

A new study published by the American Chemical Society has identified "previously undiscovered cannabis compounds" that challenge the idea that terpenes alone give each strain its unique odor and flavor.

- 2.) Structural Coloration
- 3.) List of psychoactive plants
- 4.) Entheogenic drugs and the archaeological record
- 5.) List of American federal politicians convicted of crimes
- 6.) Cognitive behavioral therapy

Rewrite Brain to Heal Mind

CBT IS BASED ON THE BELIEF THAT THOUGHT DISTORTIONS AND MALADAPTIVE BEHAVIORS PLAY A ROLE IN THE DEVELOPMENT AND MAINTENANCE OF MANY PSYCHOLOGICAL DISORDERS AND THAT SYMPTOMS AND ASSOCIATED DISTRESS CAN BE REDUCED BY TEACHING NEW INFORMATION-PROCESSING SKILLS AND COPING MECHANISMS.

A TALK BASED FORM OF THERAPY, CBT INCLUDES A NUMBER OF COGNITIVE OR BEHAVIORAL PSYCHOTHERAPIES THAT TREAT DEFINED PSYCHOPATHOLOGIES USING EVIDENCE-BASED TECHNIQUES AND STRATEGIES.
